FOR CARMEN

- no centered preferably
- fix background image (make it snap to the bottom edge)
- text color needs more contrast
- padding on the top is tight
- link thing is funny but needs to be more clear (look at the wii menu back button at the bottom left)
- 50/50 text on left and image on right (display: flex)

- no need for the wii at top of page - maybe make it an image in the fixed header
- can even replace the home link as its own button

- if time permits, maybe restructure the home/landing page
- try and make it so that the first thing people see is the wii logo at a size that takes up most of the viewport
- two column text approach with home text + wii image
- below that is a wii-menu like thing (basically a series of glorified buttons) that links to all the other pages
- no need for the header on this main page
